Acknowledgement and Acceptance of Terms and Conditions

ad-media GmbH publishes CPI Trade Journals for the Concrete Industry and is also the publisher of the CPI websites and the CPI Buyers' Guide. This agreement outlines the terms and conditions for the use of the CPI Buyers' Guide. ad-media GmbH retains the right to amend this agreement as deemed necessary. As a user of the site, customers are responsible for checking these terms and conditions regularly. Continued use of CPI websites acknowledges acceptance and consent to this agreement, binding customers to the terms within. If you have any questions or issues regarding these terms and conditions, please forward them to info@ad-media.de.

Intellectual Property

ad-media GmbH wishes to acknowledge that all data such as (but not limited to) photographs, reviews, illustrations, images, videos, and other information are owned by ad-media GmbH and are protected by copyright. Customers acknowledge that all trade names, service marks, trademarks, drawings, design rights, design code, programs, software, software architecture, database rights, applications for any trade or business names, and any other "intellectual property" contained within CPI websites are solely owned by ad-media GmbH and all rights are reserved. Any attempt to publish, transmit, reproduce, sell (or participate in the selling of), or exploit the intellectual property contained within CPI websites is unlawful. Any other names, logos, trademarks, and designs contained within the site belong to their respective owners.

Customer/ Advertiser Relationships

ad-media GmbH is in no way responsible for any dealings or correspondence between the user and advertisers sourced through CPI websites. Customers agree that ad-media GmbH is in no way responsible for any damage or loss suffered as a result of any correspondence with advertisers on CPI websites.

Website Modifications

ad-media GmbH retains the right to discontinue, amend or modify the website at any time, permanently or temporarily, with or without prior notice. Customers agree that ad-media GmbH holds no liability to them or any third party for any modification, amendment, discontinuance or suspension of CPI websites.

Links

There are links within CPI websites that allow users to access other websites. ad-media GmbH does not accept responsibility for the content of any linked websites, as ad-media GmbH does not have control over such linked websites or the content held within. Such links are provided for the convenience of the customers; linked sites do not, however, reflect the opinions or operating practices of ad-media GmbH.

Information Published on CPI Buyers' Guide websites

ad-media GmbH reserves the right to amend, modify, or discontinue information that was provided by customers for the CPI Buyers' Guide should it fail to adhere to the outlined terms and conditions. Such information must be professional, truthful, decent, and legal. It must not bring ad-media GmbH into a situation of dispute. Text and other content must not mention other companies in ways that might harm these companies' image in any way; treatment of competitive companies must be fair and respectful. Customers are responsible for the authenticity of all images, videos, and written information they provide for the CPI Buyers' Guide. Customers are also responsible for any financial loss or any costs brought upon ad-media GmbH as a result of unprofessional content, or untruthfulness, indecency, or illegality displayed in their advertisements. The copyright for all contents of the CPI Buyers' Guide, including but not limited to, text and pictures, shall be owned by ad-media GmbH as soon as published on CPI websites. By providing content for the CPI Buyers' Guide, customers assign all copyright to ad-media GmbH. Any content containing details deemed unprofessional, untruthful, indecent, or illegal by ad-media GmbH will be removed from CPI websites immediately and without prior notice.

Liability

ad-media GmbH may at times need to service or maintain its equipment. Any disruption of service will be kept to an absolute minimum. However, ad-media GmbH does not guarantee the continuous availability of the advertisement online. ad-media GmbH shall not issue a refund, should the advertisement fail to appear due to circumstances beyond the control of ad-media GmbH.
